

Why NACEP Accreditation Matters for the HACC College in the High School (CHS) Program

We are actively working toward accreditation through the National Alliance of Concurrent Enrollment Partnerships (NACEP), which sets the national standards for quality in College in the High School (CHS) programs. By pursuing this accreditation, we are reinforcing our commitment to ensuring your students receive a true college-level learning experience — right at your high school.

Nationally Recognized Quality	Courses meet rigorous national standards for curriculum, faculty, grading, and support — identical in rigor to those on our campus.
Stronger Credit Transfer	Credits are more widely recognized and accepted by colleges nationwide, saving students time and money.
Student Success	Students experience real college-level expectations in a supportive setting, building skills and confidence.
Trusted Partnerships	Accreditation gives high schools, families, and students confidence in program quality and outcomes.
Commitment to Excellence	Accreditation requires continuous review and improvement, keeping us at the forefront of best practices.

Bottom Line: Working toward NACEP accreditation is our way of ensuring that your partnership with us continues to bring the highest standards of quality and recognition to your students.
